

The Communication Bridge Speech Therapy Study

The Cognitive Neurology and Alzheimer's Disease Center at Northwestern University is conducting the Communication Bridge research study to better understand the effects of speech and language therapy on the communication abilities of people with primary progressive aphasia (PPA).

What will participation include?

- Three evaluations with a licensed speech & language pathologist
- Eight speech and language therapy sessions through an Internet-based video chat program
- Questionnaires and surveys about your communication abilities as well as interviews about your experience in the program

Interested?

For more information, please contact:
Marie Saxon, Project Coordinator

communicationbridge@northwestern.edu
(312) 503-4012

There is no cost to participate in this study.
You do not need to be located in the Chicago area to participate.